NWPC's Statement on Justice Alito's Leaked Draft Opinion

(Washington, DC – May 2, 2022) “This draft opinion is alarming in its outright attack on a core value of women’s’ right to choose,” stated Donna Lent, President of the National Women’s Political Caucus (NWPC). “The women of this country see this draft ruling as confirming our highest court has clearly become a political body.”

NWPC is concerned, as is Chief Justice Roberts, that the court looks like it has tilted so far to the right it is losing its objectivity. This draft opinion puts the government in charge of every woman's body. The establishing of an outright national ban, making abortion totally illegal across the U.S. is right around the corner.

About the National Women’s Political Caucus

The National Women’s Political Caucus, founded in 1971, is a national, multi-partisan, grassroots membership organization dedicated to identifying, recruiting, training and supporting women candidates for elected and appointed office.
